

FYI,

I just received notice from the Coconino National Forest that they are planning to burn 20 acres of slash piles on top of the Rim about 15 miles south of the Blue Ridge Ranger Station tomorrow. This is the same area where they burned recently and the wind carried the smoke into our District area and all the way to Payson. If the winds happen to be from the same direction tomorrow, we may see smoke in our communities again for a couple days.
